Fund-raisers on 5,000 Mile Coastal Walk

Paul Barber & Wendy Bathard leaving Silloth Lifeboat Station on 7th July

A pair of round Britain walkers have walked round the coast of Cumbria on the latest stage of their 5,000 mile marathon in aid of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution and Guide Dogs for the Blind.

Paul Barber and Wendy Bathard, from Bovey Tracey in Devon, set off from John O'Groats, Scotland in November 2006 with their dog Havoc and have so far raised £35,000 and walked around 3,500 miles.

Walking around 100 miles a week and living in a tent, they expect to be back at John O'Groats this November and hope to have raised £50,000 for the two charities by their year-long adventure.

They have so far walked down the east coast of Scotland and England, around the south, south west and Welsh coast and now are getting ready to re-enter Scotland on the west coast, calling at many RNLI lifeboat stations along the way.

Paul said: "This is a huge challenge for us both. We gave up our jobs to carry out the walk, hoping to have a bit of an adventure, but more importantly to raise lots of money for the RNLI's Train One, Save Many Fundraising Appeal and Guide Dogs for the Blind.

'We're around two-thirds of the way round now and so far it's been amazing. We've had a great welcome from people right around the coast and seen some wonderful sights. We might be a bit footsore but it's been well worth it.'
