SeaBritain 2005

Silloth-on-Solway and SeaBritain 2005!

SeaBritain 2005 is a major celebration throughout England and Wales during 2005, it is centred on the battle of Trafalgar, with extensive activities in both Portsmouth and London. Details of the national celebration can be found by visiting www.seabritain2005.com where you will see how the interest and enthusiasm of this national maritime heritage and of our relationship with the sea, has spread all around England and Wales.

In addition every present day port and many former ports have a story to tell and indeed inland cities, towns and villages with a past connection with the sea are all combining to bring the national story of our sea/maritime heritage together.

We need your help! Turn to page 5 to find out more, we want the area from Allonby to Skinburness to become involved in a year of activities to fully celebrate SeaBritain 2005.
